Journal Article Abstracts Scoring Rubric

Student Name: _____   Total Points: _____

Performance Criteria	Standard Not Met	Standard Partially Met	Standard Met	Exceeds Standard
Written summary	Concise, but vaguely articulated summary of a minimum of 2 of the four components (or 1 of the 3 components) addressed (4 points)	Concise, but vaguely articulated summary of a minimum of three of the four components (or 2 of the 3 components) addressed) (6 points)	Concise and somewhat complete summary of the article with all the components addressed (8 points)	Concise, but complete summary of article with all the following components addressed: rationale, methods, results, discussion/conclusions (or rationale, summary, discussion/conclusions for non-research articles) (10 points)
Relationship of article content to services for children and families	Vaguely articulated relationship of the article content to services for children and families, no examples included (1 point)	Somewhat clearly articulated relationship of the article content to services for children and families, including one or more vague examples as to how the content might be applied in a program (3 points)	Somewhat clearly articulated relationship of the article content to services for children and families, including one or more specific examples as to how the content might be applied in a program (4 points)	Clearly articulated relationship of the article content to services for children and families, including one or more specific examples as to how the content might be applied in a program (5 points)
Mechanics / References	Fifteen or more errors in spelling, punctuation, or grammar; references not cited: multiple errors in APA format (0 points)	Ten or more errors in spelling, punctuation, or grammar; references not cited; some errors in APA format (3 points)	Six or fewer errors in spelling, punctuation, or grammar; references cited as relevant; minimal errors in APA format (4 points)	No errors in spelling, punctuation, or grammar; references cited as relevant; no errors in APA format (5 points)